

Distance between Tijuana and Mérida: 2,607.894 mi. (4, 197 km)

Distance between Mexico City and Mérida: 815 mi. (1,312 km)

- Most violence and crime incidents are self contained to the areas marked in red and very specific amongst drug cartels
- There are no recorded kidnapping incidents in Merida
- The State of Yucatán has one of the lowest crime rates in Mexico and in Latin America
- Mérida is not a large urban center and therefore does not have “big city” problems such as overcrowded areas, slums, traffic jams, drug related incidents
- Mérida is also one of the cleanest cities in the country
- Mérida’s population is very welcoming and warm
- Obviously, students still need to exercise common sense and have good judgment when traveling anywhere in the world

For more information you can consult the main local Newspapers and Websites:

- www.porestto.net
- www.yucatan.com.mx/default.asp
- www.yucatanoday.com